

SUPPORT POSSIBILITIES & CODE OF CONDUCT

During the festival:

If you experience a situation during the festival that is discriminatory or transgressive in any way and feel overwhelmed with how to handle it, do not hesitate to contact the Awareness Team.

Accessibility of the Awareness Team:

At the awareness stand right next to the information and cash desk at the entrance to the above site, someone will be available for you throughout the festival. A part of the awareness team is moving around the festival area and can be identified by a pink shirt with an A on the back.

With the phone number +49157 54251181 the awareness team can be reached during the festival, if a direct contact is not desired or possible. The cell phone can also be reached if you need assistance at an event at one of the external venues.

If necessary, you can then retreat to a quiet room. We will then look together at what you currently need.

After the Festival:

If you need support with an incident that occurred during the festival or would like to share something with us, please feel free to contact us. We can also refer you to professional support services if needed.

We are very happy to receive feedback on our handling of the issue, as we are still in the process. So please also feel free to write to us if you notice anything missing or bothering you in this text or at the festival.

If you would like to reach the festival's production team on the topic, feel free to email awareness@overhead-project.de.

If you would like to reach the Feminist Circus Initiative, with whom we are collaborating on this issue, feel free to get in touch at awareness@feminstischercircus.org.
